YOU WOULDN'T NEED A PROFESSIONAL

Coordinating and hosting an airshow is not a job for the timid. While the rewards are great, the risks are many and require the utmost preparation and attention to detail. When it comes to the safety and professionalism of your event, you need proven, reliable experience. These Veteran ICAS members represent the pinnacle of demonstrated excellence in the critical airshow support services of airboss and narrator. The terms "part-time" or "hobbyist" certainly do not apply to this group, and when you hire one of them to work your show, you will be getting the best the industry has to offer. With over 2200 shows collectively worked and literally decades of individual experience, there really is no better choice.
